War Relief in U. S. Reaches Big Figure

Contribute Over $1 Million To Sufferers Abroad.

WASHINGTON—In a spurge of sympathy for the victims of war abroad, Americans have given $1,700,000 to 284 separate agencies since the forces of Adolf Hitler began marching last year and a half ago.

Of this, $25,000,000 has gone to 283 agencies, all but 10 of which have been mushroomed in the field atmosphere of war distress. The other $5,700,000 went to the American Red Cross, which was an old and revered relief institution when Mr. Hitler was a nonentity.

About $18,000,000 of money and goods have been sent to the sick and hungry and homeless of the war, $20,000,000 by the Red Cross and the remainder by the wide scattering of other agencies.

Since the war started, Americans have created 238 agencies to help war sufferers and have contributed, or arranged to contribute, through 17 other religious or benevolent organizations that were already in existence.

In number of agencies, Poland ranks first, with 106 agencies rounding up goods for the sorely stricken victims of that first area of blood and carnage.

Next come France, with 90 agencies functioning in its behalf, some of them organized to help the victims of the fall of France to aid the refugees.

Fifty-four agencies still are trying to be helpful to France. Fifteen agencies are working for the aid of the Jews who have been the special victims of the war.

Four are trying to help Belgium. Two, each, are plugging away for Norway, Denmark, Czechoslovakia, The Netherlands and Greece.

Business Girls Have No Time for Hair-Do

LONDON—The business girls of Britain are being hard put to it to find time to visit their hairdressers.

With the new short working hours, enabling them to get home before the night "blitz" starts, thousands of them are unable to get time off to visit their hairdressers.

Nevertheless, taking an early-morning look round in the rush-hour crowds, and considering that most of them are wearing their hair in shelters, the curls peeping from those popular scarf-turbans are just as plentiful as ever.

For some, it depends on getting an appointment with their local hairdresser on a Saturday afternoon, but this is not always possible, suburban trains being crowded.

Three other federal agencies likewise published reports indicative of the general business upswing in the past year.

The Social Security board said that state employment offices placed 3,200,000 workers in private jobs in 1939—the greatest number in any year since the service began in 1933.

In addition, there were 557,000 placements in public jobs.

The Federal Deposit Insurance corporation reported that 1940 had fewer bank failures or forced mergers than any year since 1935.

The Federal Reserve board said the defense program boosted factory and factory equipment expenditures to $22,123,000,000, the highest level since 1923.

Beat 1939 Figures.

The commerce department, in its report on retail sales, said that although for population increase and decline in living costs "the 1940 physical distribution of merchandise in physical terms surpassed that of 1939 by a sizeable margin."

Secretary Jones said that sales had held in the relatively high level of the final 1939 quarter during the first six months, then swung upward, expanding about 10 per cent in the fourth quarter.

Jones described this year-end surge as "a reflection of the substantial increase in employment and income generated by the defense program."

Paul V. McNutt, social security administrator, said the 1940 volume of jobs filled in private industry was 20 per cent higher than in 1939 and reflected the increased use of public employment offices in recruiting the labor for defense and other industries. Counting both public and private placements, there was an increase of nearly 9 per cent over 1939 in jobs filled.

15,500,000 Applicants.

The number of 1940 applications for work totaled more than 16,500,000—the largest received in any year in the history of the U. S. employment service.

The FIVE reported that 43 banks either closed outright or were merged with corporation financial aid in order to save them from closing in 1940. This compared with 60 in 1939, 74 in 1938, 107, 69 in 1935 and 23 in 1935. Officials said the reason for few failures in 1939 and 1938 was the swelling out of weak banks during the 1933 banking holiday.

The Federal Reserve board, in its monthly bulletin, estimated that 1940 factory and equipment expenditures represented a $3,000,000,000 gain over 1939, but lacked a similar amount of equalling 1929.

Estimates prepared by George Terborgh, board economist, included $2,807,000,000 of plant spending and $13,116,000,000 of equipment expenditures last year, compared with $7,815,000,000 for plant and $11,206,000,000 for equipment in preceding year.

But, the board added, the biggest gains were due to public construction, and private plant outlays were only 80 per cent of 1929 levels.

Great Airport Opens in July

Hemisphere Will Be Served By 880-Acre Terminal At Miami, Fla.

MIAMI—A great new airfield, linking the Americas will be opened to traffic July 1, with the completion of its mile-long runways and landing-field facilities.

The new Miami International air terminal, an 880-acre field will provide facilities for handling air mail, freight and express shipments and passenger service that are exceeded only by New York's LaGuardia field.

Three thousand workmen have been engaged since October, 1939, in clearing the field and building and the remainder by the wide scattering of other agencies.

Since the war started, Americans have created 238 agencies to help war sufferers and have contributed, or arranged to contribute, through 17 other religious or benevolent organizations that were already in existence.
